EVENTS & LECTURES

FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS HAVE WEEK ON ETHICS AND PROFESSION

During this week, the first-year class will take a break from its usual work in Legal Writing and Research to focus on issues of professionalism and ethics through a series of programs this week.

On Monday, Chief Justice Randall Shepard of the Indiana Supreme Court will speak at noon on professionalism; Donald Lundberg, Executive Director of the Indiana Supreme Court Disciplinary Commission will speak at noon on Wednesday; Thursday afternoon will be a program on Identity and Professionalism, and Friday afternoon will be a program on the Professional Responsibilities of Subordinate Attorneys.

LAW AND SOCIETY PROGRAM AND THE POYNTER CENTER SYMPOSIUM ON RELIGIOUS LIBERTY AT THE DAWN OF A NEW MILLENNIUM

Marking the beginning of the new millennium, this interdisciplinary symposium will address a variety of issues relating to the history of religious liberty in the United States, its contemporary condition, and how our understanding of religious liberty might evolve in the future.

Sponsored by the Law and Society Program of the School of Law and by Indiana University's Poynter Center for the Study of Ethics and American Institutions, the symposium will take place in the Moot Court Room on the afternoon of Friday, April 9, and on the morning of Saturday, April 10.

The symposium schedule is as follows:

Friday, April 9, 1:00-1:10 p.m.:

Welcoming Remarks by Dean Alfred C. Aman, Jr., and by David H. Smith, Director of the Poynter Center

Friday, April 9, 1:10-2:25 p.m.: Session 1

Daniel O. Conkle (Indiana University School of Law-Bloomington), "The Path of American Religious Liberty: From the Original Theology to Formal Neutrality and an Uncertain Future"

Stephen J. Stein (Indiana University Department of Religious Studies), "Religion/Religions in the United States: Changing Perspectives and Prospects"

Friday, April 9, 2:40-3:55 p.m.: Session 2

Steven D. Smith (Notre Dame Law School), "Blooming Confusion: Madison's Mixed Legacy"

Frederick Mark Gedicks (Brigham Young University Law School), "Contemporary Religion Clause Doctrine and the Move from Separation to Neutrality"

Friday, April 9, 4:10-5:25 p.m.: Session 3

Martha McCarthy (Indiana University School of Education), "Religion and Education: Whither the Establishment Clause?"

Laura S. Underkuffler (Duke University School of Law), "Vouchers and Beyond: The Individual as Causative Agent in First Amendment Jurisprudence"

Saturday, April 10, 9:00-10:15 a.m.: Session 4

William P. Marshall (Case Western Reserve University School of Law, Visiting at Northwestern University School of Law), "What is the Matter with Equality?"

Scott C. Idleman (Marquette University Law School), "Tort Liability, Religious Entities, and the Decline of Constitutional Protection"

Saturday, April 10, 10:30-11:45 a.m.: Session 5

Robert Audi (University of Nebraska Department of Philosophy), "Religious Values, Political Action, and Civic Discourse"

Michael J. Perry (Wake Forest University School of Law), "Freedom of Religion in the United States: Fin de Siècle Sketches"

Saturday, April 10, 11:45 a.m.:

Concluding Remarks by Daniel O. Conkle

All students and faculty are invited to attend the symposium, which also is open to the general public. There is no registration fee. For further information, please contact Professor Conkle (conkle@indiana.edu; 855-4331).
