CHAMBLISS TALK ON CIVIL RIGHTS WEDNESDAY

The Law School's tribute to the Brown v. Board of Education anniversary continues this week. The Law School is co-hosting a visit by renowned civil rights litigator Alvin Chambliss, who represents the nonsettling parties in litigation against the state of Mississippi for its failure to fund historically black universities (Jackson State, Alcorn, and Mississippi Valley) at the same level as other state universities. A reception for Chambliss will be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 7, in the foyer of the Neal-Marshall Black Cultural Center. Chambliss will give a lecture following the reception at 7 p.m. in the center's Grand Hall. For more information, please contact Frank Motley, IU associate vice chancellor for academic support, at 856-5748.

ROAD TO BROWN FILM AND PANEL THURSDAY

As part of the Law School's series of events commemorating the anniversary of Brown v. Board of Education, civil rights litigator Alvin Chambliss will join Professor Kevin Brown and Professor of History Claude Clegg for a screening and panel discussion of The Road to Brown at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 8, in the Moot Court Room. The Road to Brown describes the legal strategy that Charles Hamilton Houston and Thurgood Marshall devised to bring Plessy's separate-but-equal rule before the Supreme Court. An introduction and subsequent discussion will put the film in context, fill in other perspectives, and encourage discussion. Refreshments will be served. This event is sponsored by the Law School and the American Constitution Society (ACS).
