He will also present the paper on Nov. 17 at The American Society for Legal History in Baltimore.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Renovation Update

The floor grinding will continue this week, so it will be another noisy week. The grinding will mostly be on the second floor east side (closer to the library), and it will continue on the third floor. This should be the last week of the grinding. Some people have found that a Walkman or iPod helps drown out the noise.

The removal of the stairwell inside the library offices will continue this week. They will try to keep the noisiest part to early in the day. After this week, this work is anticipated to continue for one more week. The rest of the work should be relatively quiet. They are removing old duct work and putting in the new, and working on the sprinkler system and plumbing. We don't anticipate any false fire alarms again because they have worked out a system with the university that should prevent them from occurring.

Because they have not yet removed the old Rare Book Room windows, you can get a glimpse of the work on the second floor of the library. So if you are interested, check it out.

Please continue to avoid the student entrance during this time as materials will be transported out of the building with a forklift. Thanks for your patience.

Practitioner in Residence: Diana Mercer

Diana Mercer, JD'88, will be a Practitioner in Residence on Monday, Nov. 13, and Tuesday, Nov. 14. Mercer is one of the foremost mediators in Los Angeles and California. She is the founder of Peace Talks Mediation Services (www.peace-talks.com) and co-author of Your Divorce Advisor: A Lawyer and a Psychologist Guide You through the Legal and Emotional Landscape of Divorce (Fireside 2001). In addition, she has published numerous articles on the topic. Mercer and her company have garnered many awards for the quality of work provided, and she has extensive experience teaching mediation in various forums and serving as a special referee on various mediation/dispute resolution panels.

On Monday, she will be teaching in Professor Amy Applegate's Domestic Mediation Clinic in the morning, meeting with Mediation class students over the noon hour, and participating in Professor Aviva Orenstein's Family Law class from 2:20 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. She will be available for personal consultation in the Dean's Suite (room 240) from 3:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. prior to participating in Legal Negotiations on Monday evening.

On Tuesday, she presents a Continuing Legal Education program on Advanced Mediation Topics to the local bar and to students who have taken a Mediation or Negotiations course at the Lewis Building from noon until 2:15 p.m. She then will discuss her career in the Faculty Lounge from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. If you are interested, please e-mail jebrown@indiana.edu. Attendance will be a first-come situation for those who have completed the relevant course work.

Don't miss this special opportunity to hear from a graduate who has built a very special career as an expert in alternative dispute resolution methods, especially mediation.

Discount for BAR/BRI Extended

The $100 discount for the BAR/BRI bar review course has been extended until Wednesday, Nov. 15. If you sign up now, you will get two books of outlines one for your first year courses, one for upper year courses. You will also be eligible for the free MPRE review course. If you miss the deadline, the price will only go up. By signing up before Nov. 15, you will lock in at today's rate with an additional $100 discount. If you can't currently afford the course, you only have to put down a deposit $100 for Indiana, $175 for all other states. The rest will be billed in April of your 3L year. If you don't know what state in which you are taking the bar, you can change your course location or state exam at any time prior to the course. 1Ls should sign up to save money and to get the outlines. BAR/BRI reps are only tabling until Nov. 15 this fall. If you have any questions about BAR/BRI, please stop by the table during lunch time Monday through Thursday or write Lisa at lcgamble@indiana.edu.
