Q&A Session on Richard Susskind's Tomorrow's Lawyers

Richard Susskind, the world's leading futurist on the legal profession, will be holding a Q&A session with Maurer students on his most recent book, Tomorrow's Lawyers. The initial portion of the session will be run by 1L students from Professor Henderson's legal profession class, but time will be reserved for the entire Maurer student body. Fittingly, Mr. Susskind will be joining us from London via a Cisco tele-presence connection. To pique your interest, here are the opening lines from Mr. Susskind's important new book: "This book is a short introduction to the future for young and aspiring lawyers. Tomorrow's legal world, as predicted and described here, bears little resemblance to that of the past. Legal institutions and lawyers are at a crossroads, I claim, and are poised to change more radically over the next two decades than they have over the last two centuries. If you are a young lawyer, this revolution will happen on your watch." As space is limited, RSVP on Symplicity (unless you're a legal profession student). Lunch. Moot Court Room, noon.

IT SofTest Sessions for Exams

Westlaw Training

Before you begin your summer working experience, learn cost-effective approaches for your legal research. Room 121, noon.

Dean Matthews will be on hand to discuss the journal competition process and the selection process for the external moot court competitions. Moot Court Room, 4:00-5:00.

Bible Study

Note: Doors will close at 8:00 a.m. Moot Court Room, 8:00 - noon. Reception to follow.

Mandatory Class Session for Summer Credit

If you are planning on getting academic credit this summer working for a public interest organization, criminal law organization, judge, government agency, or law firm, you must attend this meeting.
