This Week in the Law School

SELS, SLA, and the IP Association will present the general counsel for Secretly Label Group on Tuesday. The record label is home to Bon Iver, Foxygen, and Jens Lekman. Bootleg the talk, run it through Auto-Tune, put it on a mixtape, and watch your music career take flight. If you've attended a Secretly Canadian concert, you already know beards are highly encouraged. While the company may be called secret, the location of this talk isn't: Room 120.

Tickets for the 2015 Rapheal M. Prevot, Jr. Barrister's Ball are on sale now. DJ B-Rad will provide the music. Buy yourself tickets online or in the lobby; B-Yourself on the dance floor. This year, two lucky 2Ls will earn the coveted title of Mr. and Mrs. Maurer, something Mickey, JD'67, and wife Janie were able to accomplish decades earlier.

Do your best Yogi Ferrell impression by sneaking into Kilroys on Friday for a happy hour mingling session between JD and MBA students.

Q&A with General Counsel for Independent Record Label Group

Grant Manship is general counsel for the Secretly Label Group in Bloomington, a family of record labels which have been home to artists such as Bon Iver, Foxygen, Jens Lekman, and Tig Notaro. Mr. Manship handles royalty deals, licensing, and other legal issues for Secretly Label Group. He will answer questions about general counsel jobs as well as finding a career in entertainment law. Hosted by the Society for Law & the Arts, Sports and Entertainment Law Society, and the IP Association. Lunch will be provided. Room 120, noon.

Law and Drama Society Call-out Meeting

Law and Drama Society is having a call-out meeting to discuss casting and scheduling for this semester's productions. Food will be provided. Anyone interested in participating in the productions should contact Bianca Black (bblack@indiana.edu). Room 121, noon.

Federalist Society Speaker Series: In Defense of Private Civic Engagement — Why the Assault on 'Dark Money' Threatens Free Speech and How to Stop the Assault

Nick Dranias is president and executive director within the Office of the President of Compact for America Educational Foundation, Inc., and previously served as general counsel and constitutional policy director for the Goldwater Institute. As part of the Wealth of States project, Mr. Dranias focuses on how the right to private civic engagement — the right to participate in politics confidentially as an individual or in association with others — is under assault as the product of "dark money." Room 125, noon.

POP Volunteer Refresher Training

Current members of POP are asked to attend this mandatory training session. If you are unable to attend, or have any other questions, please email Brianna Sammons (bsammons@indiana.edu). Lunch will not be provided at this meeting, so please plan accordingly. Room 122, noon.

Latino Law Student Association General Meeting

The Latino Law Student Association will be hosting a quick general meeting for all members and interested students starting at noon. Food will be provided on a first-come, first-served basis. Whether you're a dues-paying member or simply have an interest in the organization, take this opportunity to check out the Latino Law Student Association. Room 216, noon.

CACR Security Seminar Series: Reasoning Cryptographically About Knowledge

The Center for Applied Cybersecurity Research welcomes Cornell University Associate Professor Rafael Pass. Cryptographic notions of knowledge consider the knowledge obtained, or possessed, by computationally-bounded agents under adversarial conditions. In this talk, we will survey some recent cryptographically-inspired approaches for reasoning about agents' knowledge in the context of mechanism design, coding theory, voting theory, and weather forecasting. Room 335, noon.

Faculty News

Congratulations to Prof. Dan Cole, whose work "Digging Deeper into Hardin's Pasture: The Complex Institutional Structure of the 'Tragedy of the Commons'" (with Graham Epstein and Michael McGinnis) has been named to the 2015 Elinor Ostrom Prize Shortlist. Prof. Cole is one of five finalists competing for a £1000 prize, awarded annually to the best full-length article published in the Journal of Institutional Economics in the preceding calendar year. The award, which will be presented in September, is funded by the Foundation for European Economic Development.

On Friday, January 30th, Prof. Kevin Brown presented talks at two different panels at the Twentieth Annual Mid-Atlantic People of Color Legal Scholarship Conference hosted by the West Virginia University College of Law in Morgantown, West Virginia. He delivered remarks entitled, "LSAC Data Reveals that Black/White Multiracials Outscore All Blacks on LSAT by Wide Margins" at the panel "Do We Believe the Children are Our Future?" Professor Brown also delivered remarks entitled, "The Rise and Fall of the One-Drop Rule: How the Importance of Color Came to Eclipse Race at the panel "Color Matters: Skin Tone Bias and the Myth of a Postracial America."

Rapheal M. Prevot Jr. Barrister's Ball

The 2015 Rapheal M. Prevot Jr. Barrister's Ball will be at the Indiana Memorial Union's Alumni Hall on Friday, February 13 from 7 p.m. to midnight. The theme this year is "Midnight in Paris." Get your passports ready for a midnight trip to Paris. You'll start the evening with hors d'oeuvres and soft jazz, followed by dinner, and dancing the night away to music from the Midwest's hottest DJ, DeeJay B-Rad. Passports can be bought online and during the lunch hour in the Law School lobby. General admission is $50 and includes food at the cocktail hour, dinner, dessert, a photo, and entertainment. A cash bar will be available. The last day to purchase passports is February 6. Attendees can vote for their peers to receive the coveted titles of Mr. and Ms. Maurer and nominate a professor or faculty member for the Outstanding Faculty Award. Voting ends Wednesday. Everyone is invited to attend. Black tie optional.

CJAM Mediation Training in February and March

The Community Justice and Mediation Center (CJAM) offers a 48-hour training program for those interested in learning about conflict resolution, mediation, and restorative justice. Participants will enhance their interpersonal skills in communication and listening, problem solving, and negotiation, and they will increase their understanding of restorative justice philosophy and methods, the sources of conflict, and the processes leading to constructive conflict resolution. The training will benefit any community member concerned with managing conflict and its resolution. The training provides the background and skills necessary to work as a community mediator and restorative justice practitioner and qualifies participants to volunteer in CJAM's programs. The Winter/Spring 2015 training will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., February 7 & 8, 21 & 22, and March 7 & 8 at the Law School in Room 214. The training will be led by senior mediators and restorative justice practitioners. Tuition is $300, early bird registration is $250 if received and paid by January 23. Scholarships are available. Download the application and e-mail it to training@cjamcenter.org or call the office (812-336-8677) for an application. You may pay your registration by credit card on www.cjamcenter.org or by check made out to CJAM and mailed to 205 South Walnut St., Ste. 16, Bloomington, IN 47404. Phone or e-mail for more information.

How to Schedule an Event

An online form is available to plan and schedule meetings. Please use this form to request a room, notify Indiana Law Annotated, and send other information about your event. You will receive confirmation that your room has been reserved after your request has been processed. When filling out your event description, please provide all information possible, especially if you are requesting that the event be publicized.
