ANNOUNCEMENT

Three distinctly new features of the Indiana State Law Library in the State House will be received by thousands of Indiana lawyers as welcome news.

The new features are:

Installation of complete reports of cases decided by the United States Supreme Court with briefs and opinions. With the assistance of Justice Willis VanDevanter, a native of Marion, Indiana, Judge Julius C. Travis of the Indiana Supreme Court was able to obtain the last available set of these reports and briefs for the Indiana State Law Library. Only five or six other states of the Union are fortunate enough to have these volumes in their law libraries.

Installation of volume after volume of briefs with opinions of cases decided by the Indiana Supreme Court.

Installation of a catalogue of the legal books contained in the law library.

It was through the efforts of Judge Travis with the co-operation of the other members of the court, and the able assistance of Miss Jessie Levy of Indianapolis, law librarian, that these innovations were made possible.
