3-14-1904

Prof. Enoch Hogate Purchases Residence

Follow this and additional works at: http://www.repository.law.indiana.edu/enoch

Part of the Legal Biography Commons

Recommended Citation

This Writing about Dean Enoch Hogate is brought to you for free and open access by the Law School Deans at Digital Repository @ Maurer Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Enoch George Hogate (1906-1918; 1918-1924 Dean Emeritus) by an authorized administrator of Digital Repository @ Maurer Law. For more information, please contact wattn@indiana.edu.
WILL MEET PURDUE
Freshmen Getting Into Shape
For Track Meet Next Saturday

Purdue freshmen are counting on work of Thomas and Venneman for most of their points.

Members of the freshman track team are getting into shape for the meet at Lafayette next Saturday with the Purdue freshmen having been given last week for extensive practice on account of other interests occupying the gymnasium. The team is no over-confident of victory, but is determined to show the opponents an interesting time in the dash and hurdles, Hickam and Hare are showing good form. Lockridge and Thompson are expected to demand credit to Indiana in the quarter and half mile runs, hormone, and Mcintyre say they will be ready for Purdue's long distance men. The development shown by Thompson and Hare in the pole vault and high jump is re-assuring to the managers, while Schmidt is doing excellent work in the shot-put.

The Bolermakers says that two of their surest point winners are Thomas and Venneman.

Attention Prohibitionists
A call has been issued for the prohibition county convention to be held at the court house, March 23rd at ten o'clock of the same day to form an alliance. A full county ticket will be selected. All Prohibitionists and persons interested are requested to attend these meetings.

The noon train was delayed over an hour to-day on account of waiting at Ormond for the train from West Baden and French Lick. The branch train was delayed on account of an accident on the trestle work.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has announced that it will accept and forward "wireless" messages to all ocean steamers so equipped.

Freshmen Getting Into Shape

Maro Reveals Mysteries of The Hidden Art

His Music and Mysterious Performances Greatly Please a Large Audience

The versatile artist and prince of magic, Maro, filled with wonder and amusement an immense audience at the gymnasium last night.

Maro's marvelous slight-of-hand feats mystified his thousand auditors who marvelled at the dexterity of the fingers, manipulation or revealing in the articles used in the experiments. His demonstrations of the shadographic art were very amusing and this past time of early childhood days was seen in its perfection.

Maro plays the jassos and the jugggle-pog with equal facility and his aptitude in drawing was illustrated with two examples of rapid sketching on the refined paper.

The performance was closed with forty minutes of legendarism that kept the audience in continuous laughter. The magician's second Effort was as such as the stage and what he did to the Senator was a plenty. He pulled forty-seven yards of bunting out of the Senator's vest pocket, to say nothing of cards, live ducks and flags.

The musical numbers of the program were interesting more for their novelty than for their musical worth. The one exception to this was the grand march from Tannhauser, played by Maro and his three assistants on the bells.

Maro is more popular in entertaining than Magician Herrmann, and the program he presented last night was creditable in every respect and made season ticket buyers feel that the Lecture Association is giving more than value received.

Strut and Fret Has Several New Actors

Strut and Fret, under the management of President Mayme Swindler, is said to be doing unusually good work this year. Most of the performances, however, have been in private, but next Thursday night students may see the results of this year's work.

Among the new people introduced in "The Rivals" are Mr. Frank Hindman and Miss Editha Hendricks. Miss Hendricks as Lucy does some very clever work. Tickets are now on sale at the Co-op and Diet's.

It is said that over $30,000 has already been expended on the Indianapolis Southern and the estimated cost of building and equipping the road is $5,000,000.

Athletic Interests

In Need of More Room

The Men Feel That Other Interests Are Depriving Them of Much-needed Work in the Gym

Indiana's athletes are lamenting the fact that they do not have more room for their indoor work. They are particularly interested in the University but they feel very willing to divide time with other interests in their practice. The interference with their practice, however, on various occasions by their gym and the various events occupying the gym recently has seriously impaired their condition for athletic contests with other colleges. The convention last week prevented basketball practice for several days. The effect of this idleness on their part was very noticeable when they returned to work. When they entered the game with Purdue Saturday night, they did not show the form of the week previous. Most of the athletes believe that the defeat of the team and the loss of the State championship was due to this lack of practice at a most critical time.

For similar reasons, the freshmen this year will not be able to do the desired amount of work, which may seriously weaken them for the meet at Lafayette next Saturday.

Officials believe that athletic interests demand uninterrupted attention just as other departments of college work. Moreover, Indiana's prestige gains much from the results of her athletic department.

These reasons, say many earnest advocates, add force to the arrangements that Indiana athletes should have a new gym building where they can continue their work without conflicting with other interests, or other arrangements should be made for entertainments and similar events.

Dr. Tincher to Lecture

Dr. Tincher, pastor of the College Avenue M. E. church will give his illustrated lecture, "Through Yellow-stone National Park" on a bicycle, to-night at the church under the auspices of the society of St. Paul. There will be a large audience to-night to hear Dr. Tincher deliver this splendid lecture.

The faculty at Northwestern, on recommendation of the athletic board of control has taken action abolishing the annual "Thanksgiving" day football game between Northwestern and Northwestern. Northwestern will close her season next fall with Minnesota on November 19. This makes three big nine teams that will not play on Thanksgiving day next fall, Indiana, Michigan and Northwestern.

Roy Sayers, '06, has returned to Charlestown, where he has been visiting his parents the past week.

Rev. Hayden Criticizes Belief That Religion Cannot Be Properly Taught

Rev. S. F. Hayden, dean of Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill., conducted a chapel to-day. He made a very earnest plea for the teaching of religion, taking as a basis for his talk, the statement in the Acts of Apostles, "They cease not to preach and teach Christ." He said:

"The general impression is that religion cannot be taught and we are advised that children should be permitted to grow without religion. This doctrine is contrary to all laws and is decidedly unnatural. If religion cannot be imparted like history, it does not follow that it cannot be taught. Just as every seed has a germ of life imbedded within it, so every soul has within it a germ of religion that must be cared for and developed.

There are three methods of teaching religion. First, the Ritual method where much importance is placed upon the use of signs and symbols. This method may be carried too far and as a result so much attention will be given to drill in religion that the great truth of Christ will be lost. Secondly, the Emotional method, where religion is believed to be a matter of feelings. This method is gradually losing its hold on people. Lastly, the method of Intellect in which the " Creed" plays an important part. Sometimes creeds are followed so closely as to mar the importance of the real religion. We must learn that religion cannot be taught by doctrines. Catechisms learned by heart never saved a soul.

Sooner or later we must learn that true religion is simply personal communion with a personal God, when this end is reached we shall begin to learn the true Christian faith and preach and teach the simple life of Christ."

Prof. Enoch Hogate
Purchases Residence

Prof. Enoch G. Hogate of the School of Law has purchased the residence property at 301 East Kirkwood avenue. The house was erected by Bert Harn, and later sold to Harry A. Wendell. The house is modern throughout and its location on Kirkwood avenue makes it a most desirable piece of property. Prof. Hogate and family, who now reside on Pyle fourth street, will move into their new property next September.

AN ABLE ADDRESS

The Rev. S. F. Hayden, dean of Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill., conducted a chapel to-day. He made a very earnest plea for the teaching of religion, taking as a basis for his talk, the statement in the Acts of Apostles, "They cease not to preach and teach Christ." He said:

"The general impression is that religion cannot be taught and we are advised that children should be permitted to grow without religion. This doctrine is contrary to all laws and is decidedly unnatural. If religion cannot be imparted like history, it does not follow that it cannot be taught. Just as every seed has a germ of life imbedded within it, so every soul has within it a germ of religion that must be cared for and developed.

There are three methods of teaching religion. First, the Ritual method where much importance is placed upon the use of signs and symbols. This method may be carried too far and as a result so much attention will be given to drill in religion that the great truth of Christ will be lost. Secondly, the Emotional method, where religion is believed to be a matter of feelings. This method is gradually losing its hold on people. Lastly, the method of Intellect in which the " Creed" plays an important part. Sometimes creeds are followed so closely as to mar the importance of the real religion. We must learn that religion cannot be taught by doctrines. Catechisms learned by heart never saved a soul.

Sooner or later we must learn that true religion is simply personal communion with a personal God, when this end is reached we shall begin to learn the true Christian faith and preach and teach the simple life of Christ."