INDIANA BAR

A Message from the President

By a unanimous vote, the Association has again gone on record as favoring the enactment of the three bills heretofore approved by the Association,—the procedural bill restoring the rule making power to the Supreme Court, the Judicial Council bill, and the all-inclusive bar bill; the appropriation committee is making preparation for their introduction. These are the only bills that the Association will sponsor, or in any manner indorse, at the 1935 session of the General Assembly, and they can be enacted if the members of this Association will take the time to urge their merits upon the members of the legislature from their county; without such support they may fail of enactment.

The attendance at the mid-winter meeting was unusually large, both at the conference of presidents of local bar associations held the preceding afternoon, at the meeting of the judges of the trial and appellate courts on the preceding evening, and at all the sessions of the Association.

The closing hour of the business sessions was enlivened by a discussion of the recommendations of the committee on the administration of justice, but owing to the limited time, the lengthy and comprehensive report could not be covered and the Association left the matter as it found it,—without going on record as either approving or disapproving the findings or recommendations of the committee. The publication of the report in the December issue of the Journal served a very useful purpose, for every member of the Association received a complete copy of the report in advance of its official publication and was fully advised as to its recommendations. It is doubtful if five per cent. of these same lawyers would at any time have received the official document.

At the time this message is written the Old Year has yet a few days of grace, and when this message reaches you the New Year will be well on its way. Nevertheless, your president wishes each of you a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Sincerely,

WILMER T. FOX, President.

Message from the Secretary

An interesting side light of the mid-winter meeting, which is reported elsewhere in this issue, was the meeting of the presidents of local bar associations held at the Claypool Hotel on the afternoon of December 14th. Approximately forty persons representing local and district bar associations in various parts of the state responded to the call for the meeting, which has been held annually for two years, at the invitation of the Indiana State Bar Association.

Discussion centered for the most part around the subjects of the illegal practice of law and the election of judges. Franklyn George of the Henry County Bar Association offered a resolution defining the practice of law and suggested that a statute be enacted defining the practice of law along the lines suggested in the resolution. After some discussion it was decided that a committee from the group be named to draft such a bill and the presiding officer, Wilmer T. Fox, president of the Indiana State Bar Association, named the following committee: Mr. George, Thomas O'Mara of Terre Haute, Paul G. Davis of Indianapolis, Eli F. Seebirt of South Bend, and Judge Charles Snyder of Fowler.

The meeting was successful from every viewpoint and will no doubt be continued as an annual feature of the mid-winter meeting of our Association. The delegates were assured that the Indiana State Bar Association stood ready to serve as a clearing house for the various activities of the local bar associations and that the Indiana Law Journal was available as a medium for calling these activities to the attention of the bar and the public.

THOMAS C. BATCHELOR, Secretary.

A Problem in Parliamentary Law

So many lawyers inquired as to the rule of parliamentary law invoked at the close of the mid-winter meeting of the association, that the authority for the action taken will be given for their benefit and for that of any others interested.

A motion had been made and carried to lay on the table an amendment to the original motion, when Mr. Frank E. Gavin, of Indianapolis, raised the point that such action also-laid on the table the original motion. President Fox then so ruled and on appeal was sustained by the association.

The rule is thus expressed in the 1915 edition of Robert’s Rules of Order in Section 28 at page 105:

“No motion that has another motion adhering to it can be laid on the table by itself; if laid on the table it carries with it everything that adheres to it.”

Law Library of Congress

The Law Library of Congress has, until recent years, been sadly neglected, and the appropriation is still entirely inadequate. As a result, it is not—as it should be, the outstanding law library of the United States. While its Indiana legal material gives it a very fine collection, there are many gaps, especially in original editions of the earlier session laws. An appeal is made to the lawyers of Indiana to put the Law Librarian, Mr. John T. Vance, in touch with needed volumes, a few of which are here listed.

The Library of Congress has only reprint or photostatic copies of the session laws from 1801 to 1806, and its copies for the years 1811, 1813-1814, and 1821-1822 are imperfect. Of the Indiana Law Journal it needs:

Vol. 1, Nos. 1, 6 Vol. 6, Nos. 1, 3, 4 June to December, 1925
Vol. 5, No. 5 Vol. 9, Entire Volume January, 1898, to June, 1899.

It also needs the Indiana Law Magazine, May, 1883, to March, 1885; Indiana Law Reporter, 1881; Indiana Law Student, Vol. 1, No. 1; Indiana Law Register, 1871 to 1872.

Of the Reports of the Attorney-General it needs one copy of the following years:

1873 1881-82 1889-90 1921-23
1874 1883-84 1891-92 1933
1875-76 1885-86 1895-96
1879-80 1887-88 1911-12

Of the annual reports of the Indiana State Bar Association it needs the following years:

1897 1899
1898 1904

Odd volumes of the Supreme and Appellate Court reports, too numerous to list, are needed, as well as two complete sets of both.

Many lawyers are unfamiliar with the services the Law Library of Congress is prepared to render to the lawyers of Indiana. It does not lend the reports, digests and ordinary law books found in bar association and Supreme Court libraries, but it is prepared to furnish the unusual book required by the legal historian or by the practicing lawyer who has an exceptionally difficult legal problem on his hands. The usual requests are for books on foreign law, comparative law, philosophy of law, etc.

The Law Library of Congress is also prepared to furnish bibliographical service in the fields not covered in the ordinary bar association or Supreme Court library, as for example, foreign law, legal history, jurisprudence, legal philosophy, Roman law, canon law, Mexican divorce laws, adoption laws, etc.

To secure such books it is only necessary for the lawyer to go to his public library, his bar association library or Supreme Court library and have the librarian request the Library of Congress for the loan of the book as an inter-library loan.
